About NCMA's Certification Program

Program Scope

NCMA was founded in 1959 and has become the prevailing professional resource for those in the contract management profession. NCMA is dedicated to the professional growth and educational advancement of all contract managers. In addition, NCMA strives to serve and inform the profession it represents and to offer opportunities for the open exchange of ideas in neutral forums.

In this role, NCMA is the foremost certification body for contract management. NCMA certifications are based on an American National Standard (ANS), the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR), and the Uniform Commercial Code (UCC).

NCMA's certification program is maintained by the Certification Oversight Body, which operates as an impartial body with membership drawn from a variety of backgrounds—to include government and commercial buyers, sellers, academicians, regulatory authorities, and consultants. Collectively, this interdisciplinary group maintains the certification program with the intent to advance contract management practices and competencies. Essentially, NCMA certifications are developed and maintained by Contract Management practitioners for Contract Management practitioners.

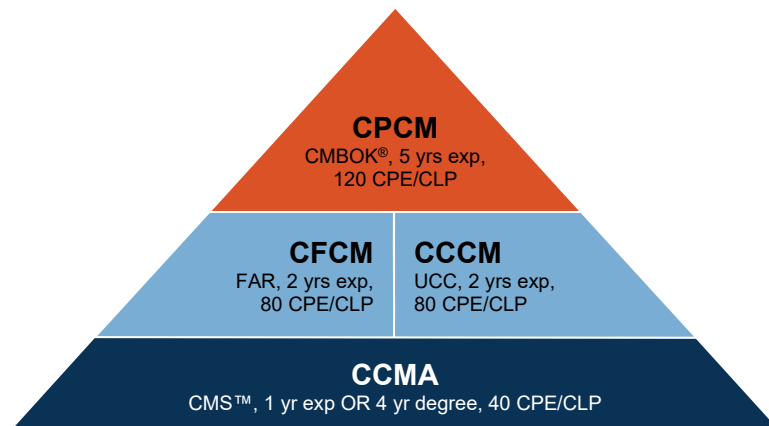

NCMA's certification program includes:

- Certified Professional Contract Manager® (CPCM®),
- Certified Federal Contract Manager® (CFCM®), and
- Certified Commercial Contract Manager® (CCCM®), and
- Certified Contract Management Associate™ (CCMA™).

NCMA certifications are distinguished by their development and universal application, which makes them transferable across industries. A significant strength of NCMA certifications is that they are portable and not tied to any single role, contract methodology, or organization.

Program Vision

The NCMA certification program advances contract management practices and competence. It serves as the profession's standard for the practice of contract management. NCMA certifications attest to the combined knowledge, skills, and abilities of government and commercial buyers and sellers, as well as academics, regulatory authorities, and consultants. NCMA certifications are intended to be earned by those who manage contracts and who meet the knowledge requirements expected to be acquired through relevant education, training, and experience. Following is an image of the NCMA Certification Pyramid.

Definitions

“Contract management” means the actions of a contract manager to develop solicitations, develop offers, form contracts, perform contracts, and close contracts. [Source: ANSI/NCMA ASD 1-2019 (R2022)].

“Contract manager” means the authorized representative or agent for a contracting party. [Source: ANS/NCMA ASD 1-2019 (R022)].

“Applicant” means a person who has submitted a certification application, but the application has not yet been approved.

“Candidate” means a person who has an approved certification application but is not yet certified.

“Certificant” means a person holding a certification in good standing.

“Retired certification status” means a recognition bestowed on eligible certificants who no longer practice in contract management or related fields. It is not an active certification status.

Basic Tenets

NCMA will ensure that:

- a) Only those individuals who demonstrate the knowledge/skills to be competent are certified.
- b) Any exams used to measure the candidates are fair, objective, valid, and reliable.
- c) Certification functions are separated from all other functions NCMA performs (e.g., membership, education, etc.).
- d) All certificants agree to abide by the NCMA Code of Ethics.
- e) The confidentiality of all candidate data is maintained.
- f) Fairness is demonstrated through impartiality to all certification applicants and candidates.
- g) All certifications will expire unless the recertification requirements are met.

Overview of the Certified Contract Management Associate™

The CCMA™ is awarded to those who meet education, training, and/or experience requirements and who demonstrate knowledge of the Contract Management Standard™ (CMS™). It is intended to serve as a steppingstone to higher level NCMA certifications.

The CMS™ is an American National Standard (ANS) accredited by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) [ANS number: ANSI/NCMA ASD 1-2019 (R2022)]. The CMS™ defines key contract management concepts and processes and serves as the foundation and framework for the Contract Management Body of Knowledge®.

Who Should Pursue the CCMA™?

- Anyone with a 4-year degree from a regionally accredited college with less than one year of experience in contract management,
- Buyers and sellers with at least one year of contract management experience without a regionally accredited 4-year degree,
- Buyers interested in understanding how their actions impact sellers and sellers interested in understanding how their actions impact buyers, and
- Anyone interested in understanding the foundational aspects of the contract life cycle.

NCMA Certificant Expectations

NCMA expects its certificants to behave in a professional manner while continuously striving to improve the individual competence of themselves and those around them, and to improve organizational capability. To reinforce this expectation, all applicants, candidates, certificants, and those who are in the Retired certification status must agree to and abide by the NCMA Code of Ethics and the NCMA Certification Policies & Procedures Agreement.

- NCMA Code of Ethics. The Code establishes principles for members of the contract management profession. The Code requires members of the contract management profession to conduct themselves in a way that brings credit to the profession.
 - Please visit the online Code of Ethics to read the Code.
- NCMA Certification Policies & Procedures Agreement. The Agreement establishes policies and procedures for those seeking and achieving NCMA certifications. The Agreement requires all applicants, candidates, certificants, and those who are in the Retired certification status to conduct themselves in a way that bolsters the integrity of the NCMA certification program.
 - Please visit the online Certification Policies & Procedures Agreement to read the Agreement.

The Code and the Agreement may be updated or revised from time to time. It is your responsibility to obtain, understand, and agree to the current online versions.

Steps in the Certified Contract Management Associate™ Process

The following figure presents the step-by-step process to apply for, obtain, and maintain the CCMA™. Each of the steps are discussed in detail on the following pages.

Step 1. Application & Fee Submission

To be eligible for the CCMA™, you must meet certain education, training, and/or work experience requirements.

Education	OR	Work Experience	Training
Bachelor's degree* (must be from a regionally accredited institution)		1 year (must conform with Contract Management Standard competencies)	40 CPE (must conform with CPE Guide™)

* For degrees outside the United States, evidence of equivalency must be provided by an independent third-party evaluator. U.S. accreditation standards apply to U.S. colleges and universities. To determine the equivalency of your degree, you must obtain a determination of equivalency from an independent source. World Education Services, Scholaro, Credit Eval, Info Check USA, and SpanTran are some of the organizations that provide credential evaluations for international students. NCMA is not affiliated with these organizations in any way.

CCMA™ Fees

Though you are not required to be an NCMA member to obtain an NCMA certification, the fees you pay are determined by your NCMA membership status. The membership rates apply only when you are a member in good standing. The following figure presents the applicable fees.

Action	Member Fee	Nonmember Fee
Certification Application (good for 1 year but no more than 3 exams)	$90	$295
Certification Exam (must pay for each exam individually)	$135 (US & Canada) $160 (all others)	$135 (US & Canada) $160 (all others)
Recertification Application (submitted every 3 years)	$95	$145

How to Submit Payment

Once you have uploaded your certification or recertification application, payment will be made by credit card through the NCMA shopping cart process.

Exam fees are submitted directly to the testing center when you schedule your exam.

Special Needs Accommodations

You may request special needs accommodations for any NCMA exam due to disability, handicap, and/or other conditions that may impair your ability to take the exam.

Please identify your special need for exam accommodations as part of the application process.

If you do not request exam accommodations at the time of application but will require them, please contact certification@ncmahq.org as soon as possible. If you have already scheduled your exam, you may need to cancel and reschedule the appointment.

How to Access Your Application

1. Log into your profile at the top of any page on the NCMA website and select Certification Applications from the left-hand menu
2. From there, do one of two things:
 - Click on new application by selecting the blue button of the certification you are applying for
 - OR-
 - If it is an existing certification, click on the certification within the menu
3. From there, follow the tabs and instructions along the top.

Step 2. Application Review

Once your application and fee have been successfully submitted, you will receive an email notification within fifteen (15) business days if your application is approved or if additional information or evidence is required.

Exam Eligibility Period

Once your application has been approved, the one-year (1) exam eligibility period begins. NCMA will send you an email notification with instructions on how to schedule your exam date and time.

You may take the exam up to three (3) times within this eligibility period if you do not pass the exam on the first or second attempts. Though there are no additional application fees to take the exam the second or third time, there will be an additional exam fee for each exam taken.

Step 3. Schedule Your Exam & Pay Exam Fee

All NCMA certification exams are administered through Kryterion Testing Centers and it is the responsibility of the candidate to schedule the exam. The CCMA exam may be taken onsite or online. In both cases, the proctoring is performed by Kryterion. NCMA cannot reserve or guarantee seating at the testing centers or if they are online proctored (OLP). We recommend that you schedule your exam as soon as you determine the date on which you want to take it and at least three (3) months before the expiration of your eligibility period.

Please save all exam scheduling verifications and correspondence received for your records.

The remaining portion of this step is divided into three sections:

- Step 3.1 Testing Center Exam Instructions,
- Step 3.2 OLP Exam Instructions, and
- Step 3.3 How to Reschedule or Cancel Your Exam Appointment

Step 3.1 Testing Center Exam Instructions

Taking an exam at a testing center can be a new, exciting, yet anxious experience. We want you to feel relaxed and comfortable when visiting a Kryterion Testing Center, so we've provided the following overview on what to expect as you move through the process:

1. Registration & Payment

You will register for your exam through NCMA's Webassessor portal (access is provided in the application approval email mentioned in Step 2). During this process you will select your desired exam, choose Onsite delivery, and select a Testing Center, date, and time for your exam session. You will also be asked to pay the exam fee at this time.

2. Confirmation

You will receive an email confirming your scheduled testing date, time, Kryterion Testing Center location, and your Test Taker Authorization Code. This code is required to launch your exam at the Testing Center.

3. Check-In at the Testing Center

Arrive 15 minutes prior to your scheduled exam time. Two forms of identification are required at the Testing Center, and they will be verified and recorded. One must be a government issued photo ID. Secondary identification must include your printed name such as a credit card, bank debit card, or employee identification card. Please note in the United States, a Social Security Card is not an acceptable form of identification. The name on your two forms of identification must match exactly with your name as specified in your test-taker profile in Webassessor. Additionally, all identification must be current. Expired identification will not be accepted. You will also need to provide the Test Taker Authorization Code from your Confirmation email. The Kryterion Certified Proctor (KCP) will provide you with documentation about preparing for your exam session while your workstation is prepared in the testing room.

4. Personal Items

DO NOT bring personal items with you to the testing center unless specifically approved in advance for special accommodations or listed as an approved exam aid. NCMA, Kryterion, Inc., and Kryterion Testing Center locations are not responsible for lost or stolen items. You will be asked to place any personal items in a cabinet, locker, or compartment prior to entering the exam area. Personal items include but are not limited to backpacks, scratch paper, books, bags, purses, keys, wallets, hats, briefcases, books, cell phones, calculators, electronic devices, watches, food and drink, and any weapons or firearms.

5. Taking Your Exam

Once your exam has loaded, the proctor will escort you to the workstation in the testing room and you may then begin your exam. The exam engine provides you with detailed instructions on how to take the exam and walks you through each step of the process. Scratch paper is provided by the proctor but is collected by the proctor prior to the candidate leaving the facility. Under no circumstances are candidates allowed to remove scratch paper from the facility, even if it is blank.

6. Submitting Your Exam

At the end of your exam session, you will be prompted to notify the proctor that you have completed the exam. The KCP will submit your exam and complete the check-out process.

7. Exam Results

Exam results are provided immediately on-screen after submission (results will not be printed by the Testing Center). However, any score provided at the conclusion of a candidate's exam session is considered preliminary until the candidate receives notice from NCMA that the result is official.

Step 3.2 OLP Exam Instructions

1. Registration & Payment

You will register for your exam through NCMA's Webassessor portal (access is provided in the application approval email mentioned in Step 2). During this process you will select your desired exam, choose OLP delivery, and select a date and time for your exam session. You will also be asked to pay the exam fee at this time.

2. Confirmation

You will receive an email confirming your scheduled testing date and time. This email will contain important information and requirements for the OLP exams. Ensure that at least one day prior to your scheduled exam time, you have read the instructions on how to prepare for your OLP exam installed the secure browser and set up your Biometric Profile.

3. Check-In

Log into your Webassessor account at least 15 minutes prior to your scheduled exam time. One form of identification is required and will be verified and recorded by the OLP proctor. Biometrics are used in OLP and serve as your second source of identification. The name on your identification must match exactly with your name as specified in your test-taker profile in Webassessor. Additionally, the identification must be current. Expired identification will not be accepted.

4. How to Launch an Online Proctored (OLP) Exam

Click the My Assessments tab of your Webassessor account to view the associated screen. You will find your exam listed in the Scheduled Exams section.

The Launch button appears 10 minutes before the exam is scheduled to start and remains visible for 20 minutes, or until you click it to begin.

Once you have selected the Launch button, Webassessor will automatically log you out of your account for security reasons. Your Webassessor browser page will display the following: "You have launched an online proctored test and have been logged out of the system for security reasons."

Note: All exam candidates are recorded during the entire exam.

5. Video Camera Preview Page and Camera Position

Webassessor will display a Video Camera Preview page.

- Use the live video display to adjust the location of your webcam.
- Verify that your microphone is working.

6. Security Check

NCMA requires you to complete a few simple exam security checks before starting your online proctored exam. This "pre-check" typically involves an ID confirmation and a 360-degree video review of your test environment.

7. Testing Environment Requirements

- Breaks during an exam are not allowed.
- Your room must be well lit, quiet, and free of distractions.
- Your immediate surroundings must be clutter-free. There is only one active computer, one active monitor, one keyboard, and one mouse.
- No exam aids are authorized. However, an online scratch space is available to the candidates during the exam. After the exam closes, no data or text from the scratch space will be stored.
- You must not wear a lanyard, badge, hat, watch, or jewelry. (Remove them before the exam starts.)
- You may not interact with anyone – aside from online support staff – during your exam.
- You may not use dual monitors.
- Do not lean out of the camera view during your exam. A proctor must be able to see you at all times.
- Cell phones or any other "smart" devices are not permitted in the testing area.

- Reading the exam aloud or talking is prohibited.

Note: If the testing environment or system set-up are not satisfactory, you will receive instructions to help you correct the issue(s). Once Kryterion approves the adjustments, your exam will resume.

Failure to satisfy the preceding requirements or follow instructions can lead to termination of your exam and forfeiture of your payment. NCMA will be notified. Where conflicts exist, NCMA rules supersede any guidance shared by NCMA's testing partner, Kryterion Global Testing Solutions.

8. Online Exam System Requirements

Summary: Online or remote proctored exams should be done on a personal computer, no virtual machines are allowed, and the download of required software may require an Administrative user account. To see the full list of online exam system requirements and to perform a system check, please visit the Kryterion website.

Additional Consideration: You must disable all software that can interfere with your online proctored exam. This includes, but is not limited to, pop-up blockers, antivirus software, firewalls, VMWare/Bootcamp, Skype, Photobooth, and TeamViewer. This exam is supported by Standard English keyboards only. If you are using a non-English keyboard, please go to Microsoft's Support Website for instructions on modifying your keyboard to ensure a successful exam launch

9. Communication with the Testing Center After the Exam Session Starts

PLEASE NOTE: Once the exam session begins, chat is the only method of communication with the testing center. Also, getting the technician engaged could take 3 – 4 minutes, but any lost time will be added to the exam session.

With a no-show status, you will forfeit the exam fee and you must pay the full exam fee to schedule another exam appointment.

Step 4. Take the Exam

NCMA Exam Confidentiality Agreement

Prior to beginning the exam, all candidates are presented with the following Exam Confidentiality Agreement (ECA):

As a candidate for this exam, you are required to follow the terms of the NCMA Exam Confidentiality Agreement (ECA) and the NCMA Code of Ethics. Please read and agree to the following before beginning your exam:

1. I will follow all NCMA certification program policies and requirements. I understand that failure to do so may result in investigation and sanctions by NCMA, which could include canceling my exam results and forbidding me from taking future exams.

2. I understand that NCMA exams are confidential. I will not discuss or disclose the questions, content, or answers from my exam to any person or organization, including other candidates, education providers, or exam preparation services, etc. at any time.
3. Prior to this exam, I have not received information from any source regarding the confidential questions, content, or answers of this exam.
4. I will promptly report to NCMA any possible violations of the ECA, NCMA Code of Ethics, or NCMA certification program policies by myself or others.

The ECA is a reminder of some, but not all, of the security related policies that the candidate previously accepted during their application. Failure to agree with any or all of the ECA will result in the immediate termination of the candidate’s exam session.

CCMA™ Exam

The CCMA™ exam is based on the competencies found in the CMS™ Third Edition. The exam is comprised of 90 multiple-choice questions, with each question having four (4) options. Candidates are allowed up to two (2) hours to complete the exam.

Successful candidates receive a passing score of at least 72.5% on the exam.

Candidates who do not receive a passing score must wait at least ten (10) days before retaking the exam. If the exam is not passed on the second attempt, candidates must wait at least ten (10) days before retaking the exam. If the exam is not passed on the third attempt candidates must submit a new certification application, to include the application fee and receive approval prior to scheduling and retaking the exam. Please follow the process outlined in Step 1. Application and Fee Submission of this Handbook.

CCMA™ Exam Information

The CCMA™ exam is comprised of 90 multiple-choice questions, of which ten (10) are beta questions. Beta questions do not impact the final score and are used to assess the validity of future exam questions. The beta questions are randomly placed throughout the exam. The following formula is used to determine the two (2) -hour length of the exam.

Category	Minutes per Question	Number of Scored Questions	Number of Beta Questions	Minutes
Questions	1	80	10	90
Exam Review				30
Total				120

CCMA™ Job Task Analysis (JTA)

NCMA conducts a JTA to determine what job tasks are important and used frequently by contract managers. NCMA’s JTA process includes a public survey, review by subject matter experts, and public comments. This structured approach identifies the skills, knowledge, abilities, and other characteristics needed to effectively perform contract management.

The NCMA JTA led to the identification of contract management competencies. A competency is the blend of related skills, knowledge, abilities, and other work-related characteristics that:

- Affects a major part of one’s job (a role or responsibility);

- Correlates with job performance;
- Can be measured against well-accepted standards;
- Can be improved through education, training, and work experience; and
- Differentiates individuals and organizations from the competition.

Item Development

The exam questions for the CCMA™ are:

- Developed and independently validated by working groups,
- Referenced to the CMS™, and
- Monitored through psychometric analysis.

CCMA™ Exam Blueprint

The exam blueprint details the range of questions contained in each CMS™ section. The following table presents the number of possible questions in each section.

Section	# Questions

Sample Exam Questions

The following are sample CCMA™ exam questions. The intent is to provide an indicator as to how the questions are constructed. The correct responses are in bold font. Also, there are no options on the exam with “all of the above”, “none of the above”, or any other option where multiple options are correct or incorrect. In addition, there are no true/false, fill-in, or short answer questions.

Establishing the Passing Score

The passing score for the CCMA™ exam is determined by sound psychometric analysis. In addition, NCMA uses subject matter experts – contract management professionals from all aspects of the profession (e.g., buyers, sellers, academics, etc.) to determine how many questions you must answer correctly to pass the exam. All questions are valued at equal weight, and your final score is calculated by totaling the points you have earned on the exam.

Successful candidates must correctly answer at least 58 of the 80 questions (72.5%).

NCMA Exam Security and Confidentiality

The exam, answer sheets, worksheets, and/or any other exam or exam-related materials remain the sole and exclusive property of NCMA. These materials are confidential and, unless directed by valid and lawful subpoena or court order, are not available for review by any person or organization for any reason.

Exam (pass/fail) results are confidential and will not be disclosed to anyone without candidate consent, unless directed by valid and lawful subpoena or court order. If you would like your exam results to be released to a third party, you must provide NCMA with a written request that specifically identifies the types of details (e.g., exam date, pass/fail status, etc.) about the exam results that the third-party person or organization should receive.

When you submit any NCMA certification application, you agree to abide by the NCMA Exam Confidentiality Agreement (found in this handbook). Among other things, this document addresses post-exam questions and discussions. It states: “I will not discuss or disclose the questions, content, or answers from my exam to any person or organization, including other candidates, education providers, or exam preparation services, etc. at any time.”

Any such discussion would be a potential violation of the Certification Policies & Procedures Agreement and thus, could affect the status of your certification, up to and including revocation of your certification or permanent suspension from any NCMA certification exams.

Preliminary Exam Scores

Any score provided at the conclusion of a candidate’s testing session is considered preliminary until the candidate receives notice from NCMA that the result is official.

Reexamination(s) Policies and Procedures

When your application is approved, you are granted a one (1) year eligibility period in which to pass the exam. During the eligibility period, you may take the exam up to three (3) times because candidates do not always pass the exam on their first attempt. Gauge your time carefully to leave enough time during the eligibility period to retake the exam, if needed.

Reexam fees apply to the second and third attempts to pass the exam. If you do not pass the exam there is a required waiting period before you can sit for another attempt. The intent of this waiting period is to allow for additional exam preparation.

If your eligibility period expires without you passing the exam, you must reapply for the certification. The following figure presents reexam fees, wait periods, and other comments applicable to retaking exams.

Action	Fees	Comments
Attempt 1 Exam Fee (payable when scheduling exam)	$135 (US & Canada) $160 (all others)	To retest after attempt 1, you must wait 10 days and return to Step 3

The CCMA™ requirements and exam structure may be occasionally revised. NCMA may update this CCMA™ Handbook at any time. It is your responsibility to understand the current requirements and exam structure. Please be sure to monitor this handbook for possible revisions. If you have any questions, please contact NCMA.

Step 5. Certification

Once you have been notified directly by NCMA that you have officially passed the exam and you have met all requirements, you are granted the CCMA™. You may refer to yourself as a CCMA™ holder as long as you have an active certification status. You are authorized to use the CCMA™ designation in block letters after your name on business cards, personal letterhead, resumes, websites, and in your email signature.

Please note that as part of the application process, you agreed to adhere to the NCMA Certification Policies and Procedures Agreement and the NCMA Code of Ethics. This means, among other things, that you will only use the CCMA™ designation in the manner stated above and that you will not use the CCMA™ designation in company names, domain names, product names, or any other unauthorized manner.

Certificate

Your certificate and letter will be mailed to you at the beginning of the next month following certification.

Public Information

Upon request, NCMA will verify and provide information as to whether an individual holds a current, valid certification and the scope of that certification, except where the law requires such information not to be disclosed.

Step 6. Recertification

Immediately upon certification, the three (3) year recertification cycle starts. To continue to hold the CCMA™ in good standing, you are required to earn forty (40) Continuing Professional Education (CPE) and be approved for recertification by December 31 following three (3) full years of certification. Certificants are responsible to submit correct and timely applications to allow for review and approval by December 31 of the fifth year after certification or recertification. In addition, in every even numbered recertification cycle, certificants must pass the exam again.

For instance, if you earn the CCMA™ any time in 2021, you must recertify by December 31, 2024 with 40 CPE. Following this same example, the next recertification cycle will end on December 31, 2027. Since this will be an even numbered recertification cycle, in addition to the 40 CPE the exam must be passed again.

As you approach the end of your three (3) year cycle, as a courtesy, NCMA will send emails to remind you of your need to recertify. These notices will be sent to the email you have on file with NCMA. Please keep in mind that you are responsible to keep your email address up to date. If your email is not up to date, you will not receive the reminders.

Please allow 15 business days for your application to be reviewed and processed. Note that this does not mean your application will be approved within 15 business days. It is the responsibility of the certificant to track, plan, and achieve the recertification requirements by the deadline.

The CCMA™ requirements may be revised from time to time. When revisions occur, NCMA will make a public announcement and contact you as a certificant in good standing at the email address in your NCMA profile. However, it is your responsibility to understand and comply with the current requirements to be recertified. If you have any questions, please contact NCMA.

Recertification Program Overview

NCMA’s recertification requirements support the continuous learning expected of our certification holders so they are always prepared to meet the demands of today’s complex business environment. The purpose of the program is to:

- Enhance continuous learning and development among certification holders,
- Provide direction in development areas to ensure relevancy of certified practitioners,
- Encourage and recognize individualized learning opportunities,
- Offer a mechanism for attaining and recording professional development activities, and
- Sustain the value of NCMA certifications.

Everyone who earns a CCMA™ must actively maintain their certification(s) through continuous learning and renewal of their certification(s) every three (3) years.

Being actively engaged in professional development and learning activities allows certification holders to earn CPE, fulfilling the continuing certification requirements and ultimately growing and developing as a practitioner.

NCMA recognizes that each individual has different professional needs and desires. The recertification program is designed to be flexible so it can adapt to those needs and allow you to customize your activities. The program provides a general framework and guidance—you determine your ultimate development path.

For details and instructions on how to earn and track CPE, download the Contract Management Continuing Professional Education Guide™ (CPE Guide™).

Action	Fee	CPE Requirement	Exam Requirement
Recertification Application (15 business days to process)	$95 Member $145 Nonmember	Evidence of 40 CPE (must conform to CPE Guide™)	Pass the exam on every even numbered cycle (testing center fees apply)

Application Review

The application review will take up to 15 business days to process. Please keep in mind that:

- You agree to abide by the NCMA Code of Ethics and the NCMA Certification Policies and Procedures Agreement;
- The same type of documentation used to verify CPE in recertification is the same as that used in the certification process; and
- Any requests for additional information on an incomplete recertification application does not extend the recertification deadline.

Recertification Notification

Upon recertification, NCMA will issue a letter to recognize the accomplishment along with a gold seal with the updated year of recertification to place on your certificate.

Step 7. Retired Status

The retired certification status allows individuals to continue to be recognized for achieving NCMA certification(s) after leaving the contract management profession or related fields. Retired certification status does not require the CPE requirements of the active certifications, which may no longer provide value to a retired individual. Please note that retired certification status does not qualify for and is not considered an active certification. Eligibility

Those eligible to apply for the retired certification status must meet the following criteria:

- The individual must hold an active CCMA™ in good standing for at least 10 years;
- Provide 40 CPE hours and if in an even numbered recertification cycle, pass the exam again; and
- The individual must be, or soon to be, separated from the contract management profession or related fields.

Applying

- Applicants must complete the retired certification application form and include a one-time, nonrefundable $95 (NCMA member)/$145 (nonmember) application fee.
- Individuals with a retired certification status designation must adhere to the same Code of Ethics as active certificants and may be subject to revocation in the event of a Code violation.
- If the individual with the retired certification status becomes re-employed within the contract management profession or a related field, he or she must discontinue use of the retired status designation and reactivate the certification.
- Applicants are not required to be NCMA members to hold the retired certification status.

Rights and Privileges

Individuals who qualify for retired certification status may use the applicable NCMA certification followed by the retired designation (Retired) after their name and all forms of address to indicate their status. For example, "John Smith, CCMA™ (Retired)" signifies a retired CCMA™ certification.

Restrictions

Retired certification designees may not use the applicable NCMA certification without the "(Retired)" suffix, and they are not entitled to use or hold themselves out to the public as an active NCMA certificant.

Reactivating a Retired Certification

Retired NCMA certifications may be reactivated under the following options:

Option 1. If the application for reactivation is made within 5 years of the last date of being an NCMA certificant in good standing, the retired certificant must complete the reactivation application, which will include providing evidence of the applicable amount of CPE for each of the years in which the certification was retired. For example, the current requirement to recertify is 40 hours of CPE (an average of 13.4 CPE hours per year). If reactivation is requested after 2 years, the number of required CPE hours is prorated to 26.8 hours.

Option 2. If more than 3 years has passed since the last date of being an NCMA certificant in good standing, or the requirements to reactivate are not met, the individual must go through the certification process again to include completing the application process and passing the exam (starting at Step 1. Application & Fee Submission) of the certification process.

Step 8. Credential Suspension

Certificants must plan accordingly and attain new CPE throughout the three (3) year recertification cycle and, if necessary, pass the exam in the third year. Complete recertification applications must be approved for recertification by December 31. Recertification applications not approved by or submitted after December 31 are considered "suspended."

During this period of suspension, you are not authorized to present yourself as holding an active CCMA™.

A recertification late period will commence on January 1 with a requirement to be approved for recertification no later than March 31 following the recertification deadline, certificants may submit the recertification application with a nonrefundable late fee.

Please keep in mind that any requests for additional information on an incomplete recertification application does not extend the suspension deadline.

Please allow 15 business days for your application to be reviewed and processed. Note that this does not mean your application will be approved within 15 business days. It is the responsibility of the certificant to track, plan, and achieve the recertification requirements by the deadline.

Step 9. Credential Expiration

Applications received after March 31 are not accepted and the certification is expired. As of April 1, you are not authorized to present yourself as holding an active CCMA™.

To achieve an CCMA™, the current certification process must be followed from the beginning. If you achieve an active CCMA™ again, the effective date will be as of the current date NCMA notifies you of the accomplishment. You will not be retroactively certified to cover the gap in which you did not hold an active CCMA™.

Appendix: How to Approach the Examination

For the mental side of examinations, here are some recommended exam-taking techniques:

1. Relax. The examination is based on your profession.
 2. Read the questions carefully, answering those you can easily and quickly answer. It is usually a good idea to go with your first impression when answering a question; second-guessing can cause you to change a correct answer to an incorrect one.
 3. Skip over or flag questions that appear too difficult and return to them later.
 4. Don't stop. Keep going. Keep reading questions until you find one you can answer. The questions you've read will be in the back of your mind; when you return to them, you'll have a fresh perspective. Avoid overanalyzing and second-guessing the question. Choose the correct answer for the question as it is written. Do not make assumptions about what the question means. Don't regard questions as being "trick questions" or concentrate on the exceptions to normal practice.
 5. Keep an eye on the clock. Judge the time you have so you don't spend a lot of time puzzling over one question to the detriment of being able to answer several others. Flag questions you are having trouble with and move on.
 6. Don't try to "game" the system by choosing answers to ensure that an equal number of As, Bs, Cs and so on are selected.
 7. Try to answer the question in your mind before you read the choices. Good test questions are constructed to allow the knowledgeable examination candidate to do this.
 8. If you can't readily identify the correct answer, make an educated guess. Eliminate the choices you know to be false and select from those remaining.
 9. If time permits, look over your answers. However, avoid trying to second-guess your answers.
 10. Don't worry about the examination. You may feel wrung out and exhausted at the end of it, but that is not necessarily an indication of how well or how poorly you may have performed.
